

Area One sewer bids recodified

Contractors began Thursday picking up detailed specifications and working drawings and preparing their estimates on 11 separate projects involved in constructing the Area One sanitary sewer from the Stallings area north through Pontoon Beach and east through the Mitchell area, emptying into existing Granite City sewers on the Granite City Army Installation.

Edward Juneau of the Sheppard, Morgan and Schwaab engineering and consulting firm of Granite City, engineer for the sewer program, said several contractors, including one major national firm, have already obtained specifications and there have been inquiries from many others who are expected to obtain specifications in the next few weeks.

"As far as the mechanics of this project go, we are ready for construction. Now it is up to those involved in the funding end to complete the bond sales," Juneau commented.

Bids from the contractors are to be opened Sept. 30 in a public session and contracts will be awarded in mid-October, if bonds have been sold for the local share of the construction cost.

The sale of bonds, which was to have taken place this month, has been delayed until September, on the advice of the Wauterlek and Brown bonding firm of Chicago, who are selling the bonds for the local sewer.

David Field of Wauterlek and Brown said he believed delaying the bond sale about 30 days would "further enhance the marketability of the bonds with the resultant lowering interest costs to the taxpayers."

He said the company needs more time to sufficiently sample the national bond market and the desirability of the bonds will be greater once it has been determined there will not be any litigation in an attempt to block the project.

Field said the delay should not hamper the awarding of construction contracts by October, which is the deadline set by the state if the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency is to pay 75 per cent of the cost of construction under a state grant.

While specifications are being released on Area One, the Madison County Board is continuing to withhold action on Area Two (State Park Place) and Area Three (the Eagle Park-Cloverleaf East Madison area), where there was substantial opposition from the residents.

An application has been submitted to the Economic Development Administration (EDA) for a $6.6 million grant to pay the local share of the construction cost, but it is not known if all or a portion of the money will be received.

If a total grant should be received, which is considered unlikely, the Madison County (Continued on Page 3)

Driver hurt critically

John Jeff Pritchard, 19, of 2429 Center St., was admitted to the Intensive Care Unit of St. Elizabeth Hospital at 9:30 p.m. Thursday following an auto-truck accident on Route 111 at Pontoon Beach.

Pritchard suffered multiple abrasions to the head, both arms, right ribs, both hips and left side and possible internal injuries.

The auto Pritchard was driving collided with a tractor-trailer truck driven by Fredrick M. Raymond of Brighton, Ill. Pritchard's auto reportedly was traveling east on Pontoon Road, making a left turn into Route 111 and the truck was southbound on Route 111.

Pritchard was given a traffic citation for failing to yield to merging traffic.

The possibility of a 60-day moratorium on new state highway construction will not affect projects currently under way, including the Route 151 extension and overpass project, Mel Jordan, executive director of the Illinois Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC), told the Press-Record from his Chicago office Friday.

Jordan said action taken by the FEPC board requesting the Illinois Department of Transportation and Capital Development Board to declare a moratorium on new highway contracts "is not designed to stop ongoing projects."

Meanwhile, a commission task force of about seven field workers will be inspecting current highway job sites, attempting to determine if quotas of minority workers meet a 1970 agreement between the FEPC and major construction groups calling for 20 per cent of the highway workers to be of minority races.

The task force workers will feed their information directly to the FEPC which will evaluate the present situation as well as study the records of projects which have been completed recently.

The investigation was started after the "Black Concerned Operators" group filed a suit in federal court charging contractors and Operating Engineers Local 520 have been discriminating against blacks and are not meeting the minority quota.

The FEPC last week also criticized the Mitchell-based Local 520, charging unfair employment practices. Three Illinois construction firms in the St. Louis metropolitan area also have been ordered to show cause why they should not be held in violation of the Illinois Fair Employment Practices Act—H.H. Hall of East St. Louis, MacLair Asphalt Co. of Collinsville, and Hoeftken Brothers of Belleville.

Hoeftken Brothers is general contractor for the Route 151 overpass and extension project. He said the FEPC has its own authority to "remedy" the situation when contractors or unions are found to have

"We don't wish to compound any errors. If the state awarded any illegal contracts, we do not want more illegal contracts awarded until we have an opportunity to study those now underway," Jordan added.

Overpass delay seen due to impact problem

A delay of undetermined length in construction of the proposed downtown Granite City overpass is expected to result from requirements by the Environmental Protection Agency for an impact statement, it was learned by the Press-Record Friday.

In response to the requirement, the city, through its engineers, is planning to appeal the EPA for reconsideration of the overpass proposal with the site location limited to 19th Street, beginning approximately at Benton Avenue and extending over the railroad tracks to West Granite City.

Considerable time would be involved in preparing an impact statement and in obtaining approval of EPA on points of contention upon how construction of the project would affect the surrounding environment, officials said.

A similar instance two years ago resulted in a delay of more than a year in relocation of Broadway in Venice to extend Broadway through an underpass to connect with FA Route 151.

The impact statement was required at that time because relocated Broadway cut through a small corner of Lee Park.

Aaron Pierson of the M. W. Architects and Engineers, St. Louis, which is handling the city's engineering work on the overpass project, said officials will be held in an effort to resolve many of the points in question based on the fact that 19th Street will be the location of the proposed structure.

Pierson said that it is his opinion that the request by EPA for an impact statement is based upon environmental questions arising from two other locations set out in a site location study that was made by M. W. engineers as the first

Ford hopes bolstered by I. support

Seeking a full four-year term in the White House, President Gerald R. Ford is expected to gain the 1976 nomination Wednesday at the Republican convention, which opened today in Kansas City, Mo. But it appears that if he is successful, it will be by a razor-thin margin.

His hopes are being buoyed by solid support from this district's delegates and by the likelihood of an overwhelming edge for him in his principal opponent's native state, Illinois.

Of this state's 101 Republican delegates, Pres. Ford won 72 in the March primary election and Ronald Reagan, former California governor, won 12.

The remaining 17 remain uncommitted but a majority may go to the incumbent chief executive.

The convention began with polls still showing that whoever is nominated probably will lose Nov. 2 to Jimmy Carter, the former Georgia governor, who captured the Democratic Presidential nomination last month. But both parties expect a higher result this fall than the currently predicted lopsided margin.

Some comparisons are being made with 1948, when Pres. Harry Truman prevailed in an intraparty fight for the democratic nomination and then won in November despite being the underdog in public opinion surveys.

The Illinois delegation includes U.S. Senator Charles H. Percy, one of Pres. Ford's potential contenders for Vice President, Don W. Adams of Springfield, state Republican chairman, Mrs. Teddi Iman of Rathdown, state GOP chairwoman, and former Governor Richard B. Ogilvie, director of the Ford campaign in Illinois.

Local area delegates include a close Ogilvie ally, William D. Stiehl of Belleville, and Gerald B. Cohn of Bethalto.

The chairman of the Reagan campaign in Illinois, Cong. Philip M. Crane of Mount Prospect, said last night he will support for the Presidential nomination U.S. Senator James L. Buckley of New York.

Other Illinois Reagan backers said they will continue to back the Californian.

Reagan followers expect procedural changes to be made tonight or tomorrow night as a means of possibly swaying Ford adherents to instead back Reagan.

The President is variously described as "over the top" or within one to 15 votes of achieving the 1,130 needed for nomination.

Expecting "bandwagon" momentum to develop, Ford supporters predict a first-ballot victory Wednesday night.

Reagan says his hopes are geared to a win on the second or third ballot.

Sen. Dirksen—a man of talent

(66th of a Bicentennial year Press-Record series) United States Senator Everett McKinley Dirksen was well known to many Quad-Cityans. He once addressed a Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce annual banquet and, upon his death, was succeeded by a native Granite Cityan, the late Ralph T. Smith.

Called a "19th Century flower child," Sen. Dirksen became one of the most influential legislators ever, especially when he was U.S. Senate minority leader in the 1960s.

A Sangamon State University researcher notes that the senator's special cause was the marigold. He identified with it, and it characterized him.

He told his colleagues, "The marigold will flourish on soil not blessed with fertility. It marches through spring, summer and autumn until the frost of early winter takes its toll."

"Robust, rugged, bright, stately, single-colored and multi-colored, somehow able to resist the onslaught of insects..."

"What a flower the marigold is. It is as sprightly as the daffodil, as colorful as the rose, as resolute as the zinnia, as delicate as the carnation, as haughty as the chrysanthemum, as aggressive as the petunia, as ubiquitous as the violet, as stately as the snapdragon."

"It beguiles the senses and ennobles the spirit of man." He labored unsuccessfully to make the marigold the national flower.

June steel shipments highest in 20 months

Boosted by an upturn in demand from the capital goods and construction markets, the nation's steel mills in June recorded the highest monthly total of steel shipments in 20 months.

According to the American Iron and Steel Institute (AISI), shipments of finished steel from domestic mills in June totaled 8,537,000 net tons, an increase of 38.2 per cent over June of 1975. The highest previous monthly total was 8,374,000 tons in October 1974.

The June total brought shipments for the first half of the year to 46,752,000 tons, a gain of 11.3 per cent over the first six months of 1975.

Shipments to the automotive sector continued strong, increasing 40.5 per cent over June of a year ago. The construction and contractors' market, which had been marked by sluggish demand, showed a 40 per cent gain in receipts of finished steel over the same period.

Capital goods producers also received substantially more steel than a year ago. Shipments to the agricultural machinery market increased 71 per cent, while shipments to the industrial equipment and machinery market gained 27.7 per cent; shipments to electrical equipment producers rose 76 per cent and the domestic and commercial equipment market received 109 per cent more steel than June of last year.

Wheat yield requests due soon

Wheat producers desiring to have their 1977 farm program wheat yield based on actual production rather than on the basis of Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee judgment must file a request with the local ASCS Office at Edwardsville by Sept. 6, Charles C. Losch, chairman of the Madison County ASCS Committee, announced Friday.

Farm program yields will be used in the event a wheat payment is made under the 1977 program.

Provisions of the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 require that farm proven wheat yields for 1977 be based on production data for the 1971-1975 base period.

Generally, to prove a yield, the farm must have had an allotment and harvested an acreage of wheat in each of those years. Reliable proof of production and disposition must be furnished the ASCS office for county committee consideration.

Losch pointed out this provision applies only to wheat, as the law does not authorize ASCS to set farm feed grain yields on proof of production.

Interested wheat producers must contact their local ASCS office by the Sept. 6 date to receive consideration, Losch further stated.

Services held for former resident

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon for Hugh L. Peters, 81, of Marshfield, Mo., formerly of Granite City.

He was employed at General Steel Industries while residing here and moved to Marshfield about 30 years ago. He had been ill for a year.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Edna Peters; one brother, Herman Peters of Granite City; three sisters, Mrs. Mabel Dye of Granite City, Mrs. Sylvia Deckard of Washington and Mrs. Bessie Davis of California; two grandchildren and three great grandchildren. A son, Ralph Peters, died in 1967.

Hear about acupuncture

Acupuncture is a system of diagnosis, treatment and prevention of illness, according to Dr. Thomas Clay, chiropractor, certified in the use of acupuncture.

Dr. Clay spoke to the Breakfast Kiwanis Club Thursday morning at Charlie's Restaurant.

Dr. Clay presently is working in the Chambers of Healing Arts Center, St. Louis.

He explained that acupuncture is a 5,000-year-old Chinese system of natural healing.

Dr. Clay said there were over 1,000 meridian points, but 360 control points are used most often.

He told the club the Chinese criteria for keeping a healthy body are rest, proper nutrition, exercise, positive mental attitude and a balanced nervous system.

Dr. Clay reported that 22 of the 50 states license the use and practice of acupuncture.

Club Secretary Jack Mulach was used in a demonstration to show that acupuncture does not hurt. Mulach reported that you have a feeling from the needles but no pain.

He said the prick of a needle at precisely defined points stimulates or sedates specific nerves which transmit impulses to the spinal cord and to the brain, thence to the diseased area.

Members were reminded by Vice-President Herbert Camen that the "Hole-in-One" tournament is to be held Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 11 and 12, at the Arlington Golf Club, and the peanut sales will be held Friday and Saturday, Oct. 22 and 23.

Truckers tax return due by Aug. 30

Most owners of large trucks, truck-tractors, or buses are required to file a federal highway use tax return, Form 2290, by Aug. 31.

"The tax generally applies to single unit trucks weighing 13,000 pounds or more, to truck-tractors weighing 5,500 pounds or more, to trucks of 9,000 or more pounds equipped for use in combinations, and to buses with a taxable gross weight of more than 26,000 pounds," Ira S. Loeb, IRS district director, said.

Revenue from the highway use tax program assists states in financing the Interstate Highway System, but the tax is imposed on those vehicles using any public highways, city streets, state roads and interstate roadways.

"The tax year for the highway use tax begins July 1 and runs through the following June 30. For vehicles placed in service after July, Forms 2290 must be filed with the IRS Service Center serving the vehicle owners by the last day of the month following the month a vehicle is used on a public highway for the first time," Loeb added.

Woman, 73, charged after throwing boiling water on two small children

A 73-year-old Kirkpatrick Homes, woman was arrested and admitted to the psychiatric care unit of St. Elizabeth Hospital after she allegedly threw boiling water on two small children in Kirkpatrick Homes at 12:15 p.m. Saturday.

Nettie Glaspie, 1306 Kirkpatrick Homes, suffered first and second degree burns to the entire trunk of her body and to her right upper arm and her hips when the boiling water was thrown on him and he was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Christine Gillan, 5, the daughter of Mrs. Diane Gillan, 1308 Kirkpatrick Homes, suffered first degree burns to her scalp and right chest which did not require admittance to the hospital.

The children said they were playing near a neighbor's apartment and the neighbor woman told them to leave or she would throw boiling water on them. Moments later the woman threw the water on them with a pan of boiling water from the stove and threw it on them, they reported.

Later Mrs. Diane Gillan went to the woman's home to find out why the water was thrown on the children and reported boiling water also was thrown at her, but she was not seriously hurt.

Police charged the elderly woman with aggravated battery, but said this morning they may dismiss the charge in return for assurances of proper psychiatric care and confinement.

Police were called back to the woman's apartment at 10 p.m. Saturday on a report of a burglary in progress and alleged finding a 15-year-old boy and a 21-year-old man, both of Kirkpatrick Homes, in her apartment.

The juvenile was released to his mother and ordered to meet with juvenile authorities today. The 21-year-old was being held today in jail pending discussions with the Madison County state's attorney's office on charges.

Probe downtown shooting

Shelby Wallace, 38, of 2801 Warren Ave., was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital at 3:30 a.m. Sunday with a bullet lodged in his left hand near his wrist.

Wallace was to undergo surgery today. The bullet entered between his left thumb and index finger and lodged just under the skin at the base of his thumb.

He told authorities he shot himself accidentally while cleaning a gun.

Police meanwhile were investigating a shooting on 19th Street in downtown Granite City in which three shots were fired from one or into it, and with three men in or around it.

The incident began with a disagreement in Rick's Pub, 1308 Nineteenth St., at 2 a.m. Sunday involving several persons.

Police were told two men and a woman left through a rear door, going to their station wagon in the rear parking lot, while three men went out the front door and started to get into their car, parked on 19th Street.

The witnesses said the station wagon drove onto 19th Street and slowed as it started to pass the parked car and men getting in. One of the men near the car jumped at the side of the station wagon and shot at the car from the front passenger side of the station wagon.

Two more shots followed and the station wagon turned north on Delmar Avenue and drove from the scene. The men near the parked car also got into their vehicle and left the scene.

Police found a trail of blood starting in front of the Libson Shop, 1321 Nineteenth St., and going across Edison Avenue to the Woolworth Store, 19th Street and Delmar Avenue, then south in the alley between Edison Avenue and State Street and then to between Steinberg's Furniture Exchange and Granite City News Service in the 1800 block of State Street.

A slug from a bullet was found in front of the Children's Shop, 1311 Nineteenth St. Police have been unable to find the auto which was shot at the station wagon, which is described as a white Ford with wood grain sides.

Youths steal beer, then return it

Youths who were believed to have stolen 10 cases of beer from the warehouse at the Corner Liquor Store, 2526 Nameoki Road, returned the liquor after police inquiries in Kirkpatrick Homes Sunday evening.

Several witnesses saw three or four youths run out of the open warehouse at the liquor store, each carrying two cases of beer, at 8:30 p.m. Sunday.

The youths ran into a woman's apartment in Kirkpatrick Homes, officers were told. Police obtained the woman's permission to search the apartment, but no beer was found, officers said.

Believing the youths ran in the front door and out the rear door with the beer, officers questioned several persons and obtained descriptions of several youths. They talked with mothers of possible suspects.

Before the investigation was completed, the owner of the liquor store reported three youths had returned all of the stolen beer and said they were the youths involved. They were not charged.

Sheriff's car plunges into river on Chouteau; mechanical fault blamed

A malfunction in the transmission or linkage to the transmission is suspected as the cause for a Madison County Sheriff's Department squad car going into the Mississippi River near the northern tip of Chouteau Island Friday night.

Sheriff's department mechanics said the transmission shift lever of the car was in the park position when the car was pulled from the river.

The car had been worked on for linkage problems a number of times, Madison County Deputy Conrad "Pete" Baetz noted.

Deputy Bruce Trotts was assisting another deputy searching a brushy area near the northern tip of the island when the car began moving down the levee, it was noted.

Trotts ran to the car and succeeded in opening the driver's door, but was knocked down and the car continued about 30 feet into the river, he said.

Trotts and the other deputy had been investigating a report of gunshots and a woman screaming when the incident occurred. The investigation failed to turn up any clues regarding a shooting or other crime involving a woman, they said.

Drivers were hampered in their attempt to recover the squad car due to at least six other cars in the muddy water near where the squad car sank.

Diving operations resumed in the other vehicles and recovery operations had to be suspended at 2 a.m. Saturday.

Dividing operations resumed and the car was recovered at 4 p.m. Saturday.

Baetz noted the area where the patrol car sank has been a dumping spot for stolen cars.

It is believed at least 100 cars are under the water near the northern tip of the island.

The area also has been the scene recently of several reported rapes in which women have been abducted from St. Louis and brought to the island where they were raped and robbed.

The spot also is where two young women were murdered Feb. 11, 1975, and their bodies thrown into the river.

Bicentennial

Dirksen attended the University of Minnesota for three terms as a law student, and then dropped out in 1917 to become what he called "a gas-bag man" or balloon-borne artillery spotter in World War I.

Returning to Pekin, he invested in several unsuccessful ventures before 1925, when he and his brothers bought a wholesale bakery business which succeeded.

In 1930, Dirksen unsuccessfully challenged Republican Cong. William E. Hull in the primary.

Campaigning in whiskey-making Pekin during a rematch in 1932, Dirksen emphasized Hull's vote to strengthen the prohibition amendment and defeated the incumbent by 23,000 votes.

After his short voluntary retirement due to an eye disease, Illinois voters sent him back to Washington in 1950, this time as United States senator, and re-elected him in 1956, 1962 and 1968.

Senate Republicans elected Jim Morrison leader in 1959, a post that he accepted by assuring his Senate colleagues, "I am of the stuff that cries, 'Chief, hand me the red-hot poker.'" and a post that he held until his death 10 years later.

As a politician, Dirksen demonstrated unmatched talent for compromise, persuasion and adjustment in political disputes, the secret of effective government under the American system.

No one understood the internal processes of politics better or devoted greater attention to its details.

Observers found him on both sides of nearly every question, and the Chicago Sun-Times once charged that he had changed his stand 62 times on foreign policy, 31 times on national defense and 70 times on agricultural matters.

Dirksen was unafraid of change and maintained that it was the major byproduct of democratic debate. As he put it, "The oil can is mightier than the sword."

A supporter of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Dirksen voted to slash Pres. Dwight Eisenhower's foreign aid requests, to override his opposition to the Bricker Amendment, and to prevent the passage of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy in 1954.

After Eisenhower's re-election, however, Dirksen regularly supported the President.

Indeed, the senator's place in history may be assured by three great reversals: the United Nations bond issue of 1962; the Nuclear Test Ban Treaty of 1963; and the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

After first opposing each of them, Dirksen rose in the Senate at critical times to make dramatic speeches which most observers believed carried the day and won sufficient Republican support to pass.

At his death, Dirksen was fighting losing battles to prevent federal court orders on reapportionment of state legislatures.

To enact a Constitutional amendment that would overturn the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote decision and permit apportionment of one House of a state legislature on a nonpopulation basis; and to pass a school prayer amendment.

His death cost each of these issues its major champion.

Dirksen was a consummate political showman.

He was a mellifluous old man, with silver, unruly hair; a face like a used lunch sack; and a voice which rose from a throbbing whisper up to a full, heart-rending roar that rolled throughout the Senate chambers and caused reporters to rush in for copy.

His words partially convey his misty-eyed, patriotic appeal.

Thus, on the issue of prayers in public school, he told the Senate, "Imagine the Chicago Bears football team, made up of green, inexperienced, unpracticed and unhearsable players undertaking a game against the Cleveland Browns."

"It would be unthinkable because they have not been disciplined by practice."

Mr. President, the soul needs practice, too. It needs rehearsal."

He told a political rally on the issue of freedom, "No, you can't eat freedom, or buy anything with it. You can't hock it downtown for the things you need."

"When a baby curls a chubby arm around your neck, you can't eat that feeling, either, or buy anything with it. But what in this life means more to you than that feeling, or your freedom?"

He could be both pompously cynical and serious about himself as well as the system he served.

Commenting on three Republican bills narrowly defeated during a stay in the hospital, he said:

"To my bed-ridden amazement, my pajama-ruffled confederation, yes, my pill-laden astonishment, I learned they were victims of that new White House telephonic half-Nelson known as the Texas Twist."

He once indicated that a program proposed by John F. Kennedy would have all the effect "of a snowflake on the

Optimism that new taxes can be avoided

By GEORGE W. LINDBERG
Illinois State Comptroller

The major fiscal issue before Illinois taxpayers is whether new taxes will be necessary after the election.

Three recent events help confirm the optimism expressed in Lindberg's 19-point plan that new taxes can still be avoided. One, a decrease in welfare caseload. Two, lapse period spending. Three, the governor's action on the 1977 budget.

June caseload figures for the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program, one of the state's largest programs, have decreased an average of 1,000 cases per month for three months in a row.

If this downward trend continues, the savings off at the June figure, it is good news for Illinois taxpayers. It means up to $20 million of the amount set aside for Aid to Families with Dependent Children will not have to be spent.

This is good news both for the taxpayer and for those who no longer are on welfare.

It will help offset the continued growth in the costs of health care for the poor, a fact which was recognized in my 19-point plan to avoid new taxes.

I am also happy to report that lapse period spending during the month of July was $26 million less than in July 1975.

This good news does not mean that we are yet completely "out of the woods." Major points of my 19-point plan must still be implemented.

However, as of June 30, all of the important elements of my 19-point plan that had to be completed by then were completed. Specifically:

1. We ended fiscal 1976 with a smaller deficit than the governor had projected.

2. The General Assembly held down supplemental appropriations to complete fiscal 1976 to the level stated in my 19-point plan ($189 million).

3. The General Assembly revived at my urging, and the governor signed into law, the school payment bill which spreads reimbursements for special education and transportation throughout the year.

This bill will result in $125 million more in the General Fund in October than otherwise would have been available, eliminating a massive backlog in unpaid bills that would have otherwise occurred this fall.

At the same time, the schools are not hurt because they will be reimbursed the interest they lose.

Finally, I would like to recap the status of the 1977 budget as of mid-August. In total, the governor requested $9.9 billion for the state's 1977 budget. The General Assembly passed appropriation bills totaling $10.4 billion.

The Governor has cut $437 million from the amount passed by the General Assembly. It has been reported that he will cut another $84 million from three bills that he has yet to act on to compensate for the failure of the General Assembly to pass the $95 million in tax allocation bills.

If he cuts this additional $84 million, the total cut by the governor will be about $521 million less than the amount passed by the legislature. Of that amount:

—$186 million was cut from the Capital Development Bond Fund appropriation.

—$170 million from General Funds.

—$18 million from the Road Fund.

—$147 million from all other funds.

Focusing specifically on the General Funds, the governor requested $5.65 billion in his March budget. The General Assembly sent to the governor appropriations totaling $5.717 billion.

The governor has signed into law $4.328 billion and has yet to act on three bills totaling $1.293 billion.

At most then, the governor can sign into law $5.631 billion. This is $19 million less than his general revenue funds budget requested and $86 million less than what the General Assembly passed.

If, as reported, the governor cuts an additional $84 million from three remaining, appropriation bills, general funds appropriations would be $100 million below the budget.

Reduction of $5.55 billion and $170 million below the amount passed by the General Assembly. The total General Funds budget would then stand at $5.55 billion.

The governor's veto actions were necessary because the proposals accelerating $95 million in taxes were not enacted. However, I believe that these cuts are too severe and many programs, including education, will be seriously hurt by reduction of this magnitude.

It is, therefore, imperative that the General Assembly enact the tax acceleration proposals when they return in November. If they do, cuts in school aid, mental health or other state programs can be restored.

The net result of the actions by the governor and the General Assembly seems to ensure that the spending limit for fiscal 1976-77 in my 19-point plan (point 6) will be met.

Since I introduced my plan to avoid new taxes on June 10, 1976, there has been complete bipartisan cooperation in squarely facing Illinois' fiscal problems and taking strong action to resolve them.

If this cooperative spirit continues, we can make it through the next two years without new taxes and continue to provide increased funding for schools and other state activities. To do so will require enactment of point three of the Lindberg plan, the tax acceleration proposals.

I will continue to work with the governor and the General Assembly to enact the tax acceleration proposals in November so that some of the severe cuts made by the governor can be restored.

Government—gone berserk?

Editor and Publisher magazine. When is the Suppose Carter, or some other candidate, advertised that he wanted the votes of all white, Anglo-Saxon Protestants between the ages of 18 and 25? It might not be accepted politically by others, but would it be any different?

The Supreme Court ruled in 1974 that a local ordinance forbidding newspapers to publish sex-designated help wanted ads was not a violation of the First Amendment.

Now the Pennsylvania Commission says any individual cannot mention in a situation wanted ad his or her sex, age, creed, color, etc., no matter what the motivation.

A rabbinical student cannot advertise for a job with a firm of like-minded people. An expert in marketing in the black area cannot advertise for a job with a black-oriented advertising agency.

A person of Latin American heritage cannot advertise expertise in the Spanish language.

If a job-seeker were over 60 and seeking to stress 40 years of experience, that probably wouldn't be permitted either.

Since the issue was decided by the Supreme Court, there hasn't been much complaint about efforts to eliminate prejudice from the help wanted columns. But who are these new regulations designed to help?

They seem to be aimed at the elimination of personal choice and the designation of personal pride in one's sex, age, creed, color, ancestry or national origin. Has all that lost its importance?

Stolen car crashes fence

Granite City police are continuing to search for a young man, 25 to 30, who stole the pickup truck of Nancy Dawson, 2144 Delmar Ave., from her home and drove it into a fence at St. Peter's Evangelical Church, 21st and Benton Streets, last week.

The truck was found abandoned in the church parking lot after it struck a guard rail and a metal fence around the church's air conditioner. The ignition had been tampered with and the truck "hot wired" to start it, police discovered. A kitchen knife also was left on the seat.

Neighbors reported the young man drove the truck around in circles in a reckless manner on the church parking lot for several minutes, squealing its tires, until it went out of control and hit the guardrail and fence.

The driver attempted to start the engine again, but when it would not start, he left the truck and walked north on Benton Street.

He was described as thin, about 6 feet, 2 inches tall, having long dark hair and wearing blue denim pants. He also may have worn a head bandana, witnesses said.

Pottery, glass, jewelry made at MRF Crafts Fair

The Mississippi River Festival will offer patrons a chance to buy handmade crafts and see how they are made on Tuesday and Wednesday at the Festival site on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The Fourth Annual Crafts Fair will be held on those days and craftsmen from all over the Midwest will display their wares and demonstrate how they are made during the fair. The fair, which opens each day at noon, will run until performance time for the events scheduled for those days at the Festival. On Tuesday, Janis Ian will perform, with special guest the Richie Furay Band. On Wednesday, David Crosby and Graham Nash will perform. Both shows start at 8:30 p.m.

"This annual crafts fair is a major example of the type of family entertainment we like to bring to the festival," said Festival Director Lyle Ward. "There will be craftsmen from all over the Midwest and they will be demonstrating their crafts as well as selling items they've made."

Live entertainment during the day at the crafts fair will be provided by The New Diners of Rome, a bluegrass group of strolling musicians, and refreshments will be available. Among the more than 45 different craftsmen scheduled to appear at the fair are leatherworkers, potters, people working with blown and stained glass, and jewelry makers, according to Brenda Clark, graduate assistant in art at SIUE, and organizer of the fair.

"The fair is always one of the highlights of the MRF season in many ways," said Ward. "People get a chance to see these items being made and talk to the craftsmen about their art. It's a good chance for parents to bring the family out and enjoy an afternoon of arts and crafts." There is no admission charge for the fair.

AT THE POTTER'S WHEEL — Jeri Kowalski of Granite City, graduate student in art at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, will be displaying her wares at the Fourth Annual Crafts Fair tomorrow and Wednesday at the Mississippi River Festival.

Opposes ICC media ban

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott has advised the Illinois Commerce Commission that he does not agree with its position of barring television cameras and radio from their meetings.

In his letter to Marvin Lieberman, commerce commission chairman, Scott said: "Because of my deeply held conviction that the public has a legal right to see and hear what is happening at proceedings that vitally affect their interests, I cannot represent the commerce commission position in this case.

"However, the commission members have the authority to designate counsel of their own choosing and at their own expense to defend their position." Scott said that he was concerned that "these unilateral actions taken by the commission endanger the principles of open meetings and freedom of information, and further unduly delay actions in the area of regulation of private towing companies, where some remedial action is desperately needed."

Scott noted from the transcript of the hearing convened on July 7, where the current problem arose, "that none of the participants or attorneys raised objection to the presence of television cameras and recorders... and that the media is not opposed to reasonable requirements for number and placement of equipment to insure maintenance of order and avoidance of disruption of public hearings."

CBS, Inc., sued the members of the commerce commission Aug. 5 in federal district court in Chicago to force them to open their meetings to radio and

New state book

Local Government Affairs Director Frank A. Kirk has announced the publication of a new book designed to acquaint local governments with the opportunities offered by the community colleges in their area. The 98-page book, entitled Illinois Community Colleges: A Resource for Local Governments, will also assist college districts to expand program opportunities in community colleges where training services are already provided.

Copies of the resource guide are currently being mailed to all community college presidents and trustees. The resource guide is a result of a survey conducted by LGA in the summer of 1975 to determine the training and technical assistance needs of local government officials. The federal Intergovernmental Personnel Act provided a grant to support the survey and publication of its findings.

Optimists set date for installation

The Granite City Optimist Club will hold its installation of offices at the Holiday Inn, Collinsville, on Thursday, Sept. 22, beginning at 4:30 p.m.

Optimist Harold R. Fischer, installation chairman, made the announcement at the Thursday noon meeting of the club in the YMCA.

William Monical will be installed as the new president. Dave Brooks is retiring president.

Brooks introduced Optimist Lieutenant Governor Marvin Kaiser, Alton, who complimented the club on its activities and attendance. Maurice Dailey reported that ticket money and items to be presented at the Camelot Auction on Saturday, Oct. 2, was coming in well. He reminded the members that the target date for turning in ticket money and solicited items will be Thursday, Sept. 2.

Optimist John L. McDonald Jr., vice-president and cashier of the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, spoke briefly on the total concept of electric fund transfer systems.

He noted that the use of these systems in Missouri and Illinois has been hampered by state legislators considering the machines branch banking. McDonald pointed out that in reality the system would be of advantage and service to the general public which in effect would provide "banks" in neighborhoods or local shopping centers.

Janis Ian, Crosby and Nash, the Osmonds among River Festival offerings this week

Janis Ian, Crosby and Nash, the Osmonds, Frankie Valli with the Four Seasons and avant-garde films all are in this week of activities at the Mississippi River Festival on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Two avant-garde films will be shown in the University Center's Meridian Hall on the SIUE campus this evening starting at 7:30.

"Portrait of Jason," and "Shadows," are both outstanding examples of cinema verite. "Jason" revolves around a lengthy interview with Jason Holiday, who talks about his life as a male prostitute and a black man in white America. On Tuesday, Janis Ian will appear at the Festival with special guest the Richie Furay Band.

Janis Ian, who has steadily risen to mass popularity while retaining her ability to win critical praise, had her first major hit in "Society's Child," and has had many other hits since, including "Stars," "Jesse," and "Seventeen."

A child folk-rock prodigy, Janis Ian has managed to mature successfully into a complete and very talented artist, whose songwriting efforts are often performed by contemporaries like Roberta Flack, Cher, Joan Baez and others. The program will begin at 8:30 p.m. in the Festival tent.

Also tomorrow, the two-day annual Mississippi River Festival Regional Craftsmen Fair will open. The fair will take place on the MRF site, and feature arts, crafts, and creations of all sorts by representatives from at least five states.

The fair will open each day at noon before the Janis Ian show and before the David Crosby and Graham Nash show.

Crosby and Nash, appearing Wednesday at the Festival site, are two of acoustic rock's brightest lights. David Crosby originally sang with The Byrds, perhaps the first true country-rock group, and then later teamed with Graham Nash, Stephen Stills, and later Neil Young to form Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young.

Nash, before his time with that group, was the central figure in the Hollies, where his distinctive high harmonies earned him the enviable reputation of being one of the best "voices" in acoustic rock. The two have teamed successfully to blend their voices into one of the best sounding groups currently on the road, and their album, "Wheaties Down the Wire," is rapidly moving up the charts.

The Osmonds, starring Donny and Marie with Alan, Wayne, Merrill, Jay, and Jimmy, appearing on Thursday, Aug. 19, have been making young hearts happy since their days on the "Andy Williams Show" on network television. The group, marked by its stage presence as well as its distinctive harmonies, has had a number of hits, and individual members have had hits on their own as well.

The "Donny and Marie Show" on network television has

THE OSMONDS, starring Donny and Marie Osmond with Alan, Wayne, Merrill, Jay and Jimmy, will appear at the Mississippi River Festival Thursday at 8:30 p.m. Stars of their own television program, "The Donny and Marie Show," the Osmonds have been entertaining since their early days on the former "Andy Williams Show."

CRAFT FAIR which will attract craftsmen from at least five states to the Mississippi River Festival at SIUE tomorrow and Wednesday afternoons. A wide variety of crafts will be demonstrated during the two-day fair.

Poll discloses opposition to housing plan

Granite City participants in the American Monitor Poll in this area oppose spending taxpayers' money to subsidize a new and extended federal housing program over a 40-year period at a cost of $27 billion or more, Vincent Ashall, 2608 Iowa St., team captain in Granite City for poll activities, said Friday.

Voters of the 23rd Congressional District, which includes the Quad-Cities, also favored rejection of the swine flu vaccination program which is to cost $135 million, Ashall said.

The American Monitor Poll has interviewed more than 20,000 voters all over the country on these and other issues since it was formed over a year ago. The Washington-based 300-10 Action Plan, sponsor of the monthly poll, calls its issue of the moment important tools in the hands of the voters in this election year," by George Millett, executive secretary.

He noted that the major pollsters Gallup and Harris question only about 1,000 to 1,500 citizens compared to the American Monitor's 20,000 to 25,000.

For this poll taken in June, a total of 1,646 eligible voters in Illinois voted on the two issues. Fifty-eight were from the 23rd District represented in Washington by Congressman Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis).

Nationally, 94 per cent of the voters questioned expressed opposition to the federal housing subsidy extension, and 86 per cent voted against the federally funded swine flu program. When compared to the voting records of the various Congressmen, it is interesting to note that 81 per cent of the House voted for the swine flu program, Ashall reported.

The poll is conducted strictly by volunteers, called team captains, in more than 300 Congressional districts. Results are delivered by the 300-10 Action Plan staff to each Congressional office to keep it informed of the activity and opinions of their constituents as reflected by the poll.

Plans complete for third statewide high school football playoff series

Teams from 534 schools begin the chase for the five class titles in the third Illinois High School Association (IHSA) football playoff series when the 1976 regular season gets under way Friday, Sept. 10. Practice begins Wednesday morning, Aug. 18.

Champions in each of the classes based on enrollment will be crowned Thanksgiving weekend on the artificial turf of Hancock Stadium on the campus of Illinois State University, Normal, Nov. 26-27.

Each of the 498 conference-affiliated schools and 36 independents will be in a position to decide its own fate on the gridiron during the regular season.

The Illinois system is unique to prep football tournament competition.

The champion of each conference is guaranteed a berth in its respective class. In the event of co-champions, a conference will select its representative.

To be eligible for the playoffs, each team must play a minimum of eight games by the first Saturday in November (Nov. 5). For conference affiliates, at least five games must be against teams within a school's conference.

In addition, independents, co-champions not selected as the conference's representative and conference runners-up with winning percentages of 80 percent or better will be given consideration for the "at large berths" in each of the five 16-team brackets.

The "at large" selections will be made by the IHSA office, with first consideration given to independent teams meeting the criteria, second consideration given to co-champions meeting the criteria and third consideration given to runners-up meeting the criteria.

This year, there are 66 football conferences, with 14 leagues assigned to Class 1A, and 13 assigned to each of the remaining four classes.

Class 1A is the smallest classification, while Class 5A is the largest, membership in the Chicago Public League does not participate in the playoffs.

Assignment of conferences and schools into classes this season, based on average conference enrollment using attendance figures of the previous school year, produced the following breakdown:

1A, 0-294 average enrollment, 14 conferences, 12 leagues, 101 conference teams and one independent.

2A, 295-543, 13 conferences, 92 and 10.

3A, 544-1132 enrollment, 13, 97 and 10.

4A, 1133-2066, 13, 96 and four.

Class 5A, 2067-3571 enrollment, 13 leagues, 101 conference teams and one independent.

The conferences for 1976 by class are (with average of average conference enrollments):

Class 1A (0-294) — Indian Valley, Western Area Conference (WAC), Vermilion Valley, Meridian, Morgan-Sangamon-Macopin (M-S-M), Upland, Little Oak Valley, Bi-County, Little Eight, East Central, Mid-State, Sangamon Valley, Western Illinois Valley, Lincoln Trail.

Class 2A (295-543) — Black Diamond, Blackhawk, Northwestern Illinois, Little Eight, West Central, Mid-Northern, Three Rivers, Spoon River, South Central, Lausca, Olympic, Big Oak Valley, Shark.

Class 3A (544-1132) — Northeast, Southwest Egyptian, Kankakee Valley, West Suburban Catholic, Mid-State, Private School League, North Egypt, Heart of Illinois, Little Seven, Apollo, North Central Illinois (Southwest), Mississippi Valley, Northwest Suburban (South).

Class 4A (1133-2066) — South Seven, Northwest Suburban (North), SICA South, Mid-State Nine, O'Hare Suburban, DuPage Valley, North Central Illinois (Northeast), SICA East, Illini Eight, Capitol, Big 12, North Suburban, East Suburban Catholic.

Class 5A (2067-3571) — Big 9, Mid-Suburban South, Mid-Suburban North, Chicago Catholic League, SICA West, Upland Eight, Central Suburban North, Des Plaines Valley, Central Suburban, Western Big Six, Southwest, West Suburban, SICA North.

Pairings are scheduled to be drawn, based on the traditional IHSA geographic principle, on Saturday, Nov. 6.

Preliminary round games will be played Wednesday, Nov. 10, at 1:30 p.m., unless the two competing schools agree to a 7:30 p.m. starting time.

Quarterfinals are set for Saturday, Nov. 13, at 1:30 p.m. Semifinal games will be played at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 20, at 1:30 p.m., unless the two competing schools agree to a 7:30 p.m. starting time.

The two survivors in each class will advance to the championship games on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 26-27, the weekend following Thanksgiving.

Time schedule for the title contests will be: Session 1, — Class 1A game at noon Nov. 26 and Class 2A game at 2:30 p.m. Nov. 26.

Session 2, — Class 3A game at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 26.

Session 3, — Class 4A game at 2:30 p.m. Nov. 26.

Session 4, — Class 5A game at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 27.

Super sprint cars in races here Wednesday

Tri-City Speedway opens its gates to super-sprint car racing on the half-mile dirt oval at 7 p.m. Wednesday with Chuck Amati of Freeman Spur, Ill., seeking his second straight 35-lap feature win against many of the nation's top drivers.

Amati, winner of last month's sprint racing here, will have to contend with former series winner Bobby Jont of Peoria, Ill., and with Bill Utz of Sedalia, Mo., when the green flag falls.

Utz, a two-time International Motor Contest Association (IMCA) sprint car champion, has come out of retirement.

The Missouri driver announced his retirement last fall but now has rolled the familiar yellow No. 56 sprinter owned by Dean Hathman out of the garage to seek a third straight IMCA sprint crown.

If the ex-horsehoeser, now restaurateur-entrepreneur and racing champion, can win a third straight IMCA championship, he will be the first driver to accomplish this feat.

Jerry Richert, IMCA champion from Forest Hill, Minn., put together three straight sprint championships from 1964 to 1966, preceded by Gus Strader, Emory Collins and Pete Foley.

Bobby Jones was victorious on four straight racing dates until Larry Kirkpatrick broke his winning streak last year. Kirkpatrick then returned to the sprinting to win again before his untimely death in July following an accident at West Memphis, Ark.

The sportsman stock car drivers will join the sprint cars in action here, with St. Louisian Kirk Krohn attempting to improve his lead in the point standings.

Krohn has 2,315 points, followed by Dean Aerny with 2,065, Chuck Milam 1,645 and Les Gibson 1,545, the latter three all of Granite City.

Granite City's Petrillo Produce softball team, 1976 Illinois women's state softball champion, last its bid for a first-place finish in regional competition during the weekend.

Playing at Fond du Lac, Wis., the local women's squad lost two straight games.

Petrillo bowed 6-3 to the Milwaukee state champion team and then 6-4 to host Fond du Lac.

Chappell said that both boys and girls are welcome to tryout for the golf team at North.

Tri-City, DesPlaines ready to decide Legion's state baseball championship

Tri-City American Legion Post 113 will play today for the Illinois state Legion baseball championship.

The local team dropped a 2-1 decision Thursday to DesPlaines in the opening game of the Illinois American Legion tournament at Springfield's Lamplier Park.

But then Post 113 pitched and hit its way to three straight wins to challenge DesPlaines at 5 p.m. today in what may or may not be the double-elimination tourney's championship game.

If DesPlaines wins, the title will be decided. If Tri-City wins at 5, a second game will be played to decide the champion.

Following the opening loss, Post 113 defeated Peoria 11-10 Saturday and beat Gillespie 8-4 and Lombard 5-3 yesterday.

Coach Conrad "Babe" Champion's Legionaires collected 36 hits and turned five double plays in four games. The offense was led by six hits by Tom Henrich and five by Johnny Pritchard.

Champion sent his ace hurler, Paul Evans, into action against DesPlaines on Thursday. With the score tied at 1-1 in the fourth inning, Evans allowed a hit and issued three straight walks for what proved to be the deciding run.

Hurley John Lakin started on the mound for Tri-City against Peoria Friday, but heavy rains halted the contest at the end of 2½ innings with Tri-City on top 2-0. Action resumed at the same point the next day.

Returning to the mound Saturday, Lakin had a seven-inning shutout going against Peoria before yielding the pitching duties to Jim Goodyear in the eighth. Pritchard relieved in the ninth.

Each pitcher was limited to 12 innings, and the strategy was to save Lakin, leading 11-0, for later use in the meet. But Peoria scored two runs in the eighth and eight more in the ninth inning to make it close, 11-10, at the finish.

Tri-City battled back from a 3-2 deadlock with Gillespie yesterday.

Post 113 had scored twice in the opening inning, aided by a double by Eldon Warfield, and once in the fourth when Paul Musilli doubled, Mike Kirk walked and Kirk Champion bunted safely.

Gillespie scored once in the eighth inning in the top of the seventh with Kirk Champion on the mound.

Three runners crossed the plate for Tri-City in its half of the seventh to break the deadlock and put the local squad ahead 6-3. Jeff Scarborough and Champion collected hits, two runs scored on Pritchard's triple, and Musilli tripled in to lead in the eighth when Kirk Champion, Tom Henrich and Keith Champion all collected hits.

With Radar Lyerla on the mound in relief, Gillespie garnered a run in the ninth but remained four runs behind.

Tri-City stranded 16 runners in the 5-3 win over Lombard, but Lyerla allowed the opposing squad only three hits. He yielded two runs in the fourth and one in the sixth inning in going the distance on the mound.

Again, Champion's team faced a tie after Tri-City scored once in the fourth and twice in the fifth.

The tie-breaking run came in the eighth inning when Henrich and Scarborough both drew walks and Keith Champion reached base on an error which allowed a run to score. The ball hit the shortstop's glove and rolled into centerfield.

A walk to Warfield loaded the bases and a hit by Clark provided the final tally.

With Legion rules stating that a pitcher cannot pitch on the mound more than 12 innings in three days, Evans will start today's contest with 11 innings remaining. Lakin has eight.

Season honors go to Mercer; playoffs next

Mercer Mortuary claimed undisputed possession of the season championship yesterday in the Illinois Inter-City Baseball League, winning both of a twin bill in the season finale at East Alton.

Mercer topped Fairfax 14-6 and 7-6.

Mercer, with a 23-7 record, now meets Panama, the league's fourth-place team, in a 1 p.m. doubleheader Sunday, Aug. 22, at Wilson Park in the first round of post-season playoff competition.

Panama, with a 14-16 record, split a twinbill yesterday with last year's league champion East Alton Vans, winning 4-1 and then losing to the Vans 4-0.

The Vans finished the regular season in third place with a 20-10 mark.

Highland-Pierson finished second with a 21-9 won-lost record after defeating Thomas yesterday, 11-2 and 14-3.

Fairfax ended at fifth place in the standings at 10-20 and Thomas sixth at 2-28.

Weekend rain stops stock cars; cycles due Tuesday

Heavy rains during the weekend forced cancellation of Saturday evening's stock car racing program at Tri-City Speedway, and Promoter Ed Bloom is hopeful that the weather is favorable for tomorrow's 7 p.m. American Motorcycle Association-sanctioned competition on the quarter-mile dirt oval.

Alabama's Lance Jones will lead a six-lap straight feature race here Tuesday. Jones thus far is the first rider in the track's history to win more than four consecutive main events.

He has also won every event that he has entered during that time span, bringing this winning streak to 15 races.

Heubner, Strain, Cottrell, Bartels win in golf tourney

Four Quad-City area golfers, headed by 14-year-old Lee Heubner, took first place yesterday in the final round of the sixth annual Granite City Park District 18-hole tournament played at the Arlington Golf Course.

Heubner tied with Gary Preloger in Class A competition, both recording an 83. Heubner was declared the winner due to his having posted a lower score at the first hole. J. H. Garvin was third.

Low water slows river traffic south of here

Low river conditions south of St. Louis are having no immediate effect on operations at Lock 27, where four northbound barges were waiting since the Granite City locks at 8 a.m. today and five were in line to enter the locks, traveling downstream.

Lock 27 (Granite City) and Lock 28 at Clarksville, Mo., south of Lock 26 (Alton) had one barge coming down this morning, but none going the other way, he said.

Representatives of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers expressed concern Friday because extremely low river stages usually do not occur in August. The river level generally falls from now until about March, a Corps spokesman advised.

The river had fallen to a four-foot stage Thursday and dredges were sent to two spots near St. Louis which were too shallow for barges to pass. The water had risen eight-tenths of a foot Friday, but not enough to prevent the disruption of river traffic.

"We're not predicting a dire disaster. But we're alert to the situation. We are watching the situation more closely," Col. Leon E. McKinney, new district engineer of the Corps' St. Louis office, said Friday. "We will keep the river open, but it will really keep us hopping," the officer added.

Investigate burglary at liquor store

A 35-year-old Kirkpatrick Homes man was arrested and police plan to question a second Granite City man in connection with a burglary at Lenko Liquors, 2260 Washington Ave., at 3 a.m. today.

A hole broken in the front window of the store set off an alarm and police were dispatched to the liquor store. No one was found in the store, but one man was located at 24th Street and Bromley Avenue with a bottle of wine, allegedly taken from the store window. He was arrested and was being held today pending discussion of charges with the Madison County state's attorney's office.

A short while later, police visited a man who was being treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for a cut to his hand. The man said he was cut with a radiator while working on his car, but doctors found broken glass in the cut.

Doctors suggested he be admitted to the hospital, but he declined until his sister said to him, "Do you want me to tell them what happened?" at which time he agreed to be admitted, authorities said.

Hits car, pole

Wayne Lunsford, 24, of 1229 Michigan Ave. was injured when his car struck a parked car and a utility pole at Wilson Park Lane west of Michigan Avenue at 9:55 p.m. Sunday.

Lunsford said he was driving a car to avoid striking a dog and it struck the parked car of Bill Webber, 101 Wilson Park Lane, and a utility pole. The impact moved the base of the pole, raising a section of the sidewalk and a curb. Lunsford's injuries did not require hospital treatment.

BICYCLIST HURT

Michael Pechetti, 12, of 2815 E. 25th St., was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital at 8:45 p.m. Sunday after being thrown over the handlebars of his bicycle. He suffered abrasions to the left side of his face and to his left hand.

BREAK SPOIL DOOR

A trash disposal unit was pushed down a ramp into a doorway at Emerson School, 20th and Benton Streets, breaking the lock from the door jamb, police discovered at 4:35 a.m. Saturday. It could not be determined if entry was gained or if anything was stolen.

ADMITTED TO HOSPITAL

Mrs. Debra Davis, 18, of the 2260 block of Delmar Avenue, suffered a concussion to her back and arms and pain to her chest after she was beaten, she told authorities at 1:35 a.m. Sunday. She was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital.

ADMITTED TO HOSPITAL

Bradley Sullivan, 14, of 3301 Country Lane, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital for injuries sustained when he was thrown from a motorcycle at 3 p.m. Saturday. He suffered multiple abrasions to the right side of chest, stomach, leg, left lower side and both arms.

History, scenery on Illinois River

By JACK BIESTERFELD
CHANNAHON — Take a cruise down the Illinois River this week — either by car or boat.

Trees have greened and the high waters of spring have receded, making the numerous recreation and scenic areas along the river more accessible. The valley is well endowed with parks, recreation spots and conservation areas. There are picnic spots and boat launching ramps, high bluffs and low marshes, hiking trails and historic villages.

Many of the areas are accessible by both car and boat. The river is a main navigational channel, and is girded by state and county roads that provide easy access to all areas. A map of available facilities for boaters, both private and public, is available from the Illinois Department of Conservation, 102 State Office Building, Springfield, Ill. 62706. Pamphlets describing each of the state parks along the way are also available from the Department of Conservation, or from the rangers at the individual parks.

Start the tour by taking U.S. 6 south out of Joliet to Channahon which serves as the eastern terminus of the old Illinois and Michigan Canal. The state is restoring the trail for recreational purposes, and the towpath is open to hikers and bicyclists, while the waters of the canal are open to canoeists.

Lock 6 and 7 are located in the Channahon Park, as are the old lock keeper's house. The canal parallels the Illinois River. Hikers can follow the canal 15 miles westward to Morris, or motorists can follow U.S. 6 to Gebhard Woods State Park on Morris' western boundary, the western terminus of the trail.

Gebhard Woods contains picnic and playground facilities, and fishing is allowed in four ponds within the park. A picturesque stone aqueduct built by the Civilian Conservation Corps in 1933 carries the canal over Nettle Creek. The canal continues westward for many more miles, but has not been restored for public use yet.

Directly east of Illinois 47 in Morris on the north bank of the river is William G. Stratton State Park, which is mainly a boat launching area.

South of town take the first

PANORAMA. This breathtaking view of the Illinois River Valley is from atop Buffalo Rock, a state park four miles west of Ottawa. The park is one of many lining both shores of the river as it flows from Chicago to the Mississippi River north of here.

road after the river eastward from Illinois 47 for several miles to Goose Lake Prairie State Park, which holds the last large piece of prairie left in the state. A nature center and self-guided nature trail help visitors interpret the native plants and animals.

Return to Morris and continue west on U.S. 6.

Marseilles, a quaint river town with old homes lining the ridge above the highway, is the next stop. Illini State Park south of town on the southern riverbank, contains numerous recreational areas on its 510 acres. Continue downriver, either by returning to 6 or by a county road along the south bank of the river, to get to Ottawa. The Fox River joins in here. Ottawa was the site of the first Lincoln-Douglas debate, and the gravesite of

W. D. Boyce, founder of the American Boy Scout movement.

Buffalo Rock State Park, a 43-acre recreation area on what was once an Indian stronghold, is popular with picnickers and hikers. A beautiful view of the river valley spreads out from on top of the rock, reached by a winding road. The park can be reached by taking 6 to W. D. Boyce Parkway, then right on Ottawa Avenue four miles.

Starved Rock State Park, one of the most heavily used and yet one of the most interesting in the state, is comprised of 2,114 acres of cliffs, canyons and forests. Either continue west from Buffalo Rock to Illinois 178, then south, or return to Ottawa and take Illinois 71 on the south bank of the river.

A park which, in many ways, surpasses Starved Rock in beauty is Matthiessen State Park, just a mile or two away on Illinois 178. Here canyon trails, caves, waterfalls, cliffs, prehistoric stone sculpture, a deer reservation and a pioneer stockade and blockhouse awaits visitors.

The drive between LaSalle and Peoria passes a number of county conservation areas, either on Illinois 26 or 28. East of Peoria on Illinois 29 is Fort Creve Coeur State Park, on a bluff overlooking the river. In 1680 French explorer Robert Cavellier established a fort here.

About an hour's drive southwest from Peoria between Lewistown and Havana is Dickson Mounds, an ancient Indian burial site. A state museum here has been closed for repairs, but there are still exhibits that tell the story of the ancient Indian culture that existed hundreds of years ago.

Sharon Huling married in evening ceremony

Miss Sharon Huling, 820 Willow, East Alton and Keith Lee of Granite City, exchanged wedding vows in an evening ceremony on Aug. 7 at Our Lady Queen of Peace Church, Belleville.

Summer flowers and burning tapers decorated the altar for the 7 p.m. double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Maurice F. Driscoll.

Nuptial selections were played by organist Bob Kraus and guitarist and soloist George Hasenstah.

Parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. James K. Huling, reside at 400 Springdale Dr., Belleville. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill R. Lee, 3212 Willow Ave.

For her wedding the former Miss Huling chose a long ivory organza gown designed with a scoop neckline, short sleeves and full skirt which fell into a full sweep, accented with Venise lace motifs.

A fingertip madonna veil of illusion was attached to a lace headpiece. She held a bouquet of roses and daisies intermingled with baby's breath and foliage.

Matron of honor Mrs. Toni Ogle and bridesmaids Mrs. Patti Franklin, Miss Cathy Lee and Miss Shelley Huling, sisters of the bride couple, wore long mint green Empire style gowns. They carried colonial bouquets of multi-colored flowers and baby's breath.

Mike Byrd attended the groom as best man, John Lee, a cousin of the groom, Brian Lee, the groom's brother, and Bill Carpenter served as groomsmen.

Dwayne Pritchett and Bob Huling, a brother of the bride, seated the guests.

After the service a reception was held at the banquet room of Panorama Lanes, Belleville. A rehearsal dinner was hosted at Fischer's Restaurant.

The bride graduated from Althoff High School, Belleville and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, where she was a member of Gamma Sigma Sigma Service Sorority. She is now employed as a special education teacher for the Alton School District.

A Granite City High School graduate, the groom attended SIUE and is working as manager of Jerry's Tire Sales in East Alton.

They are residing in Alton.

Gayle Grandgeorge weds Emmert P. Dannenberg

Miss Gayle L. Grandgeorge, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Grandgeorge, Somonauk, Ill., became the bride of Emmert P. Dannenberg, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmert H. Dannenberg of Granite City at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Union Congregational Church in Somonauk.

The Rev. Michael Dyer officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar banked with arrangements of summer daisies. Miss Karen Dannenberg, a sister of the groom, sang several wedding selections prior to the ceremony.

Maid of honor was Gloria G. Grayson, a sister of the bride and Bruce Goebel served as best man.

Ushers included George Klein and Greg Grandgeorge. A reception was held immediately following the service in the home of the bride's parents.

The bridal party attended a rehearsal dinner served at Monte's Riverside Inn in Ottawa, Ill.

For her wedding the bride selected an ivory floor length gown. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses, white daisies and baby's breath.

The honor attendant chose a formal gown in apricot hues. She held an arrangement of bronze daisies.

The newly married couple will be at home in Sheridan, Ill., after Aug. 20, following a wedding trip to Florida.

The former Miss Grandgeorge was employed at the University of Illinois Medical Center and will attend Illinois Valley Community College this fall.

The groom received his B.S. degree from Valparaiso University and his masters degree and C.A.S. from Northern Illinois University. He is a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity and is employed as superintendent of schools in the Sheridan School District.

'One of a kind' license marks Bicentennial

By a mathematical coincidence, an Illinois resident has a "one of a kind" collector's item during the nation's Bicentennial year.

Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett has disclosed that Mrs. Barbara J. Cox of Dolton has the unique identifying number of her driver license of C200-0704-1776.

In observing our Bicentennial, the number carries the following significance:

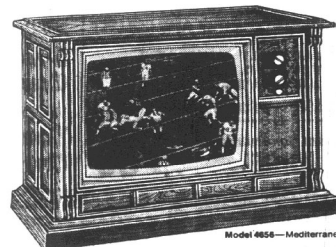

200 - the 200th anniversary of American independence.

0704-1776 - the historical date (July 4, 1776) of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

"Mrs. Cox is the only person among the 6.3 million licensed drivers in Illinois to have this special identifying number sequence during the Bicentennial year," Howlett said.

Curran-Harding nuptials at St. Margaret Mary

The wedding of Miss Joyce Ann Harding, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Harding, 41 Shirwin Drive and Michael Joseph Curran, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Curran, 10618 Roxanna, St. Louis, was solemnized on July 30 at St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church.

Vases of blue and white flowers flanked with burning tapers in branched candelabra provided the setting for the 7 o'clock evening double ring ceremony performed by Father Edward Groesch.

Wedding music was furnished by a musical group including Mrs. Vicki Simpson, Larry Smallic and Jon Grindstaff. Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a long white organza Empire style gown fashioned with a sheer yoke and sleeves enhanced with Venise lace motifs.

The lace appliques were repeated on the high neckline and on the full skirt which extended into a chapel train. A lace Juliet cap etched with pearls secured an elbow length veil bordered with matching lace and she carried a bouquet of white roses and baby's breath.

Maid of honor Miss Jayne Harding, a sister of the bride and bridesmaids Miss Barbara Blattner, Miss Mary Ann Curran and Miss Janice Harding, the latter two sisters of the bride, wore identical blue dotted Swiss voile gowns. Their A-line fashioned dresses were created with Empire bodices, scoop necklines and worn with short sleeved belero jackets, and white picture hats.

Each held a multi-color nosegay of summer flowers. The flower girl, Renee Roderick, a cousin of the bride, was dressed in a frock similar to the adult attendants. She held a basket of variegated blossoms.

Joey Prulif, the groom's cousin, served as the ringbearer. Jim Briggs was the best man and John Harding, a brother of the bride, Jim Silkwood and Dave Gazelle were groomsmen.

Fran Hesser and John Prulif seated the guests. Guests were received by the newly married couple at a reception given at the Croatian Home, Madison. The rehearsal dinner was served at Charlie's Restaurant.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Harding selected a formal length gown and jacket ensemble in a light blue double knit. The groom's mother appeared in a gold, yellow and green floral full length dress with matching jacket. Both wore corsages of peach tea roses.

A Granite City High School graduate, the former Miss Harding received a B.A. degree from Eastern Illinois University and masters degree in elementary education from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The groom was graduated from Vianney High School, Kirkwood, Mo. and attended the University of Missouri at Columbia.

They are residing in Granite City following a wedding trip to San Francisco, Calif. and Las Vegas.

Father Conrad Motola O.F.M. performed the double ring ceremony at 6 o'clock in the evening. A program of wedding music was played by the Rev. Bill Young.

A white organza Empire silhouette gown enhanced with Venise lace motifs on the bodice, sheer yoke and high neckline, and full skirt, which fell softly into a full sweep train, was worn by the bride.

She wore a mantilla veil bordered with Venise lace appliques and she carried a bouquet of carnations and daisies.

Attending the bride were Miss Clara Simmons and Miss Carolyn Bisto, sisters of the bride, Miss Debbie Kierski and Miss Helen Day. They were dressed alike in rainbow color gowns of pink, blue, maize and apricot designed with halter bodices, long skirts, ending with ruffled flounces and complemented with short jackets.

Each one wore a wide brim hat in matching hues and carried a bouquet of carnations in the same shades.

The groom chose Joseph Miller III as best man. Tim Simmons, a brother of the groom, Terry Peach and Michael Darling were groomsmen.

Frank Baczewski, a cousin of the bride and Jim Gonterman served as ushers.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the Croatian Home, Madison.

The bride graduated in 1974 from Althoff High School and attended Southern Illinois University for two years. She is employed at Gilk's Department Store.

A Venice High School graduate the groom presently works for the Illinois Department of Transportation.

Denver hosts 2,800 Business Women

Miss Jane Culbreth of Leeds, Ala., was installed as president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., at the organization's national convention in Denver, Colo. She succeeds in office, Mrs. Maxine R. Hays, Junction City, Ore.

Among the 2,807 delegates were Mrs. Sylvia Wright, president of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club; Miss Annellen Smith and Mrs. Verna Lengyel, local club members.

Major General Jeanne Holm, U.S. Air Force (Ret'd), the first Air Force woman to attain that rank was among those addressing the convention.

Maj. Gen. Holm said not uniformed, she still felt somewhat disappointed since her retirement from the Air Force in June 1975. She reported having given up "glorious retirement" and part of her retirement pay to accept a special assistance position to President Ford with responsibility for the White House women's programs.

She did it because "I was convinced he shared the same commitment to the rights and responsibilities of women that she did, the speaker said."

"It has been a long road to equality and we're still not home. After 200 years, more than half the population remains outside the protection of the Constitution," she stated.

"In her new job, the goals are to identify qualified women for appointment to higher office and to act as a liaison to women's groups so they can influence public policy and know what is going on, she said. Her office also identifies and zeros in on problem areas in issues involving women, "where we think the administration should take the initiative."

Noting that 14 per cent of the President's appointments were women, Maj. Gen. Holm said she was happy with the gains made during Ford's administration, adding "but I'm not satisfied."

Drawing enthusiastic applause, she said satisfaction would come when 50 per cent of the Cabinet was women, when there is a woman Supreme Court Justice "or two, or three... or five." And why not a vice president, she asked.

"I am convinced that somewhere today in this country is living the first woman president of the United States," the retired general said.

She deplored the pay gap between men and women (women now make 57 per cent of men's salaries) and she said the chief problem is that the gap exists, but that it is getting wider.

"Just passing laws, and throwing money at them," isn't the only answer, she stressed. "We are the majority in this country and it's time we stopped acting like a minority."

Louis Laun, deputy administrator of the Small Business Administration (SBA), speaking to the conferees urged women to seek SBA loans if private-sector funds are unavailable to them.

"We at SBA are concerned that some women apparently don't come to SBA offices because they suspect they won't be treated well," Laun said. "I'd like to correct a myth — about women not being able to get SBA loans."

He said about four per cent of American business are owned by women and, in 1975, they received seven per cent of the loans SBA approved. In 1975, it was nine per cent, and 11 per cent in the fiscal year 1976.

"In addition to that," Laun said, "a higher percentage of the loans requested by women were approved than the percentage of male applications."

Laun emphasized that since SBA wasn't put in business to replace private-sector funds with federal funds, an applicant must first go to her bank and try to solve the problem there.

If that doesn't work, ask if the bank has SBA guaranty loans on portfolio, the deputy administrator advised. And if that doesn't work, get a turnaround from the bank and go to SBA.

Laun thanked the 170,000 BPW members in the United States for agreeing to provide Miss Anita Sue McGee, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myrle McGee, 2406 E. 24th St. and William Edward Donohue, a son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Donohue, 2525 E. 23rd St., were united in marriage July 31 at the Word of Life Tabernacle, 12th and Meridian Streets.

The Rev. Henry Crippen performed the double ring ceremony at 7 p.m. Nuptial selections, "Always," "Love Story," "We've Only Just Begun," "We Walk Through This World Together" were played and sung by Mrs. Jean Kellogg.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride, selected a floor length gown of white nylon sheer over tulle enhanced with a Chantilly lace and sequin trim, at the oval neckline, cuffs of the long sleeves and bordering the chapel train.

A camelot cap secured her tiered veil of nylon tulle and she carried a bouquet of red roses, carnations, baby's breath with lace streamers.

Maid of honor Miss Annette Mousette, a cousin of the groom, wore a green and white floor length gown of polyester and cotton.

The bridesmaid, Miss Lynn Mains, selected a blue and white gown. Both attendants wore white picture hats and held bouquets of carnations and pom poms tipped in shades to match their attire.

Coop votes to help finance power plant

Initial financial commitments authorized Friday in Springfield could ultimately save 15 Illinois electric cooperatives serving more than 91,000 electricity consumers an estimated $100 million in wholesale power costs over a 10-year period, a spokesman said.

Negotiations are nearing completion between Illinois Power Company and Soyland Power Cooperative to allow Soyland to own 8.42 percent of the nuclear power plant Illinois Power has under construction near Clinton.

Members of Soyland Power Cooperative voted at their annual meeting in Springfield last week to approve loan agreements totaling $24 million with the National Rural Utilities Cooperative Finance Corporation (NCFC).

If final negotiations are successful, proceeds of the loans will be used to pay initial construction costs of the 8.42 percent share of ownership of the Clinton nuclear plant.

By 1984, when both units of the nuclear plant are scheduled for completion, Soyland will have paid an estimated $117 million of the plant's total estimated cost of $1,250,000,000.

Additional loans from NCFC, a financial institution owned by cooperatives throughout the country, and from the federal Rural Electrification Administration will provide the balance of Soyland's capital contribution to the Clinton station's construction cost.

Soyland Power Cooperative has been a "paper" organization since 1963. It is made up of electric distribution cooperatives from throughout Illinois that historically have purchased electric power for their members from investor-owned utilities.

Over the past two years, membership in Soyland has expanded to the present 15 cooperatives. They expect to receive 30 percent of their base-load energy requirements from the Clinton plant after 1981.

"All indications point to the fact that we have an on-going, viable project after years of inactivity and after many negotiations over the past two years," President Walter Smith of Champagne said in his annual report to Soyland members.

Smith said Soyland's share of construction costs through this July total $12 million and is increasing at the rate of $1 million per month.

"Even though these are enormous amounts of investment, our feasibility study indicates that Soyland will save its members approximately $100 million in wholesale power costs from 1981, when the first nuclear unit goes on-line, through 1989."

The second Clinton unit is expected to begin commercial operation in 1984.

Final legal documents detailing ownership and operating agreements between Soyland and Illinois Power are nearing completion, Smith said, and will be ready for signing in the near future.

Western Illinois Power Cooperative is also negotiating with Illinois Power for a share in ownership of the Clinton plant. That generation and transmission cooperative is made up of seven distribution cooperatives serving consumers in Western Illinois.

A possibility exists that the City of Springfield could become a fourth partner in the Clinton plant if Springfield officials accept an option to negotiate a share of ownership with Illinois Power.

Overpass

phase of the overpass project. That study, it was noted, included Nidringhaus Avenue and 20th Street as potential sites for such a structure. It is probable, Pierson said, that the problem of environmental impact arises from conditions involved in using either 20th Street or Nidringhaus Avenue, either of which would cause more impact upon the environment than the 19th Street site.

Since the site study was completed, city officials and engineers have agreed that 19th Street is the logical location for the overpass, a location that presents the least environmental problems.

By directing EPA's attention strictly to the 19th Street location, Pierson said it is highly possible that any of the impact questions posed by EPA could be answered.

Estimated cost of the grade separation on Nineteenth Street is fixed at $4.9 million, the same cost estimated for location on 20th Street, and a half million dollars less than cost of construction on Nidringhaus Avenue.

Among the advantages cited in the location study for building the overpass on 19th Street are that it connects the population center of West Granite City with the downtown area and that fewer businesses would be affected on that route.

New airport decision due Sept. 1

The long-awaited decision in the St. Louis airport controversy will be announced by U.S. Secretary of Transportation William Coleman in the St. Louis area Sept. 1.

The time and location where the announcement will be made are "still up in the air," according to a Department of Transportation spokesman, but it probably will come during the morning of Sept. 1. The spokesman said he assumes, but does not know, that the decision has been made.

Coleman has been considering an application by the Illinois-backed St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority for authorization to develop a major new airport in the Columbia-Waterloo area. Some Missouri interests oppose the proposed airport and favor expansion of Lambert-St. Louis International Airport.

Pre-schoolers register Tuesday at park office

Pre-schoolers, who will attain the age 4 years before Oct. 1, 1976, and who live in the Granite City Park District, may be registered between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Tuesday for the park district's fall-winter pre-school program.

Proof of residency, such as a receipted utility bill, and the child's birth certificate are required when registering, Harold Brown, superintendent of parks and recreation, explained.

A $2 insurance fee must be paid to insure the child in the program, and each youngster is expected to bring 25 cents per day to help defray the cost of juice and cookies.

Children enrolled in the program may attend two afternoons and two morning sessions each week. Classes will begin in mid-September at the (Name) Recreation Center, Ames and Franklin avenues.

Houser said the van was loaded with miscellaneous items. He later was notified by Illinois State police the van was found burned south of Route 40 between Rural Route Four and St. Jacob airport.

Scholarships likely to go to early applicants

The old adage about the early bird getting the worm may be proved this fall by the Illinois State Scholarship Commission (ISSC).

Early applicants for the ISSC monetary award will be more likely to receive the money for college in 1976-77, according to a memo received by the Student Work and Financial Assistance Office at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Carsten Reid Kerr, assistant to the director of the financial aid office at SIUE, said it is very likely that applications for ISSC monetary awards received after Sept. 1 may not be processed by the ISSC.

Joseph D. Boyd, executive director of the ISSC, in a memo to college and university financial aid officers said, "Any restrictions due to insufficient funds to meet the need for eligibility if each applicant will be related to the postmark date of the completed application."

Mrs. Kerr explained that the ISSC is advising students to apply early because the volume of applications has increased over last year. An increase in applications last year forced the ISSC to make award cutbacks during spring quarter at SIUE.

A legislative act later gave the Commission money to pay all awards at full value.

Although SIUE does not have any new tuition waivers available for this year, students who do not receive the ISSC award can apply to the federal government's Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG) program until March.

Mrs. Kerr added that if additional funding is given to the ISSC or if there is a high attrition of award applicants, the ISSC will continue to process applications up to the original Oct. 1 deadline. But she urged award winners to apply early since applications with September postmarks will probably not be considered for an award.

Free day of bus riding

Eight days of bus riding for the price of one will be a bonus offered to young people who purchase Superpass for the week of Aug. 30 through Labor Day, Sept. 5.

Robert J. Baer, executive director of the Bi-State Development Agency, said the extra day is added so that Superpass holders may use the pass on Labor Day. In making the announcement, Baer said, "The innovative Superpass program has exceeded all our expectations."

It has been extremely well received by area youngsters. We are happy to provide our young passengers with an extra day of riding."

Superpass can be purchased by young people age 19 and under for $1 per week at more than 150 locations in the bi-state area. Bonus-week passes may be purchased at most outlets until 10 p.m. in Room 2340 at the Main Campus.

Membership is open to BAC students who register officially and receive credit and to non-student experienced singers in the community who may participate without charge by attending the first rehearsal. Singers are required to purchase their own scores. New and returning members are invited to bring their Messiah scores to the first rehearsal.

The BAC Community Chorus, which was recently awarded a grant from the Illinois Arts Council, will perform three major works this season: Haydn's Lord Nelson Mass, Handel's Messiah, and Bach's St. John Passion. Professional soloists and orchestral accompaniment are engaged for the concert.

Rehearsals for BAC chorus to begin Aug. 24

The Belleville Area College Community Chorus will begin rehearsals for its third season on Tuesday, Aug. 24. Rehearsals are held from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. in Room 2340 at the Main Campus.

Membership is open to BAC students who register officially and receive credit and to non-student experienced singers in the community who may participate without charge by attending the first rehearsal. BAC registration at Madison open

Registration for extension credit courses by Belleville Area College at Madison High School will continue today through Wednesday from 5 p.m. until 9 p.m., according to Charles Steptoe, coordinator.

Persons interested in general studies courses may register today through Friday during the same hours.

1.10 inches of rain here on weekend

The heaviest two-day rainfall in many months brought 1.10 inches of rain to the Quad-City area Friday and Saturday nights.

The rain was accompanied both nights by electrical storms and some gusting winds, although no damage other than a few falling limbs was reported.

The heavy rains fell only for brief periods and apparently were scattered in density, with some areas reporting only light precipitation.

Weather gauges at the Chain of Rocks locks where records are maintained for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, a fall of .65 of an inch was recorded on Friday night, and .45 of an inch on Saturday night.

The rainfall on the two nights brought to 1.44 inches the total rainfall for the first 15 days of August, or only .03 of an inch less than the total 1.47-inch precipitation for all of the month of July. Normal rainfall for August is 3.02 inches.

Precipitation has been recorded on five days this month, including that on Friday and Saturday. On Aug. 6 rainfall measured .13 of an inch and on Aug. 7 total .18 of an inch. A fall of .03 of an inch was measured Aug. 11.

SIUE session on real estate

Tom Hopkins, a real estate salesman from California, will present a high intensity one-day course about the ins and outs of the listing and selling of real estate in "How to Become a Real Estate Champion."

The all-day presentation will be held on Aug. 30 at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. It is sponsored by the Office of Conferences and Institutes at SIUE in conjunction with the Illinois Association of Realtors in Springfield.

At the age of 19, in 1964 Hopkins, the keynote speaker, entered real estate sales, and in five years his sales volume had reached $14 million. In 1967 he received the "Sammy Award," awarded by the sales and marketing executives of Los Angeles.

Other guest speakers on the program will be Robert E.

Cook, executive vice-president of the Illinois Association of Realtors, and James Winning, Esq., of the General Counsel of the Illinois Association of Realtors.

Registration for the program will begin at 9 a.m. in the St. Clair Room of the University Center. The program will begin at 10 a.m. continuing until 5 p.m. Tuition for the day's presentation will be $25.

Is school quality being hampered by mandated programs?

Press-Record Springfield Bureau — Educators obviously viewed with mixed emotions the recent decision of the Illinois Office of Education to abandon full-scale evaluation of the quality of education in Illinois schools.

For some, it will mean an end to the massive preparation that usually begins nine months in advance of the visit of the state team of evaluators.

For others, it will cause concern that outside monitoring of the kind of job teachers and schools are doing will no longer take place.

But whatever side of the issue a person stands on, there are emerging realities that bear consideration:

1. The authority given the IOE has come from the General Assembly, and many of the standards it has enforced have been mandated by the legislature.

2. Much of the time spent by schools in preparation for state evaluations has been considered wasted by teachers, students and their parents.

3. Some level of evaluation must be maintained by the Office of Education if school districts are complying with laws and regulations.

The decision by the IOE to stop full-scale evaluations this fall is based primarily on the fact that school districts, stricken by fiscal paralysis, do not have the funds needed to upgrade the quality of their programs.

A major reason for this is that the General Assembly has mandated so many programs that school districts have extended their budgets to the limit to offer them.

Today, Illinois schools must provide—in addition to science, English, mathematics, foreign language, U.S. history, music and art—courses in ethnic studies, principles of representative government, health, consumer education, physical education, conservation of natural resources, drawing, vocal music and "moral and humane" education.

Many times a mandate for a new program has given little or no consideration to where the money is to come from.

An example of this was the recent legislative order that bilingual education be provided for those children whose primary language is not English. Funds to assist in carrying out this mandate have not been fully provided.

Each time school districts are confronted with a new program or a new course, it involves finding classroom space, teachers and textbooks. Federal and state funding, now being gradually reduced, has forced many districts to manipulate with what is available.

This means assigning extra classes to teachers, increasing the size of classes and obtaining portable buildings to provide adequate teaching space. It is only natural then that the quality of basic education in some areas has been compromised in order to fulfill state requirements.

For a long time, however, many have questioned the necessity of the comprehensive evaluations conducted by the IOE.

Exceptional amounts of paperwork have, once every four or five years, bogged down administrators and teachers in preparing elaborate summations of goals and achievements.

Educators have complained that the year of evaluation involves valuable time that should be used in teaching. This and part of the matter is that when the evaluation ends—most generally with a composite pat on the back—the schools ignore many of the noble-sounding goals and return to the reality of working with what is available.

It is also imperative that the school districts continue some type of evaluation to assure that schools are offering mandated programs and providing adequate facilities.

We suggest, however, that the legislature revise its requirements in such areas as "moral and humane" education. We are not opposed to teaching those subjects, but they should not be required at the expense of reading, writing and arithmetic.

It is also imperative that the General Assembly recognize in the future that new programs cost money and often result in diminished quality of overall education. The legislature must avoid mandating new programs unless it specifically provides the necessary funding.

Region's ability to compete successfully is in jeopardy

Guest comment by Congressman Melvin Price of this district — Unless the new airport is built quickly, the St. Louis region will lose its opportunity to compete successfully in the future.

Some time ago, the Federal Aviation Administration identified this region as one needing a new airport. To my knowledge, this finding has not been countermanded. If we, however, accept the current situation, it is sufficient to our needs in the present and future, we are, in fact, stating that our region will not grow and that we are unwilling to invest in our future.

Numerous airport studies have been made in past years. Studies to develop an optimal year for transfer of facilities have failed due to a number of shaky assumptions relating to the near-term availability of microwave landing system technology, widespread utilization of wide-bodied jets and the weighted cost of supposed savings realized by remaining at Lambert until the year 2000.

State unable to account for one-third of its equipment

Press-Record Springfield Bureau — It was disturbing as well as ironic when the auditor general's office reported recently that Governor Daniel Walker's Bureau of the Budget could not account for about one-third of its state-owned equipment.

The auditor general's office conducts biennial audits of all state agencies and its latest report covers a two-year period ending June 30, 1975.

Equipment valued at $46,822 could not be located in a physical inventory. Of this amount, $6,900, including typewriters, calculators and dictating machines, was believed to have been stolen.

Such misplaced equipment was transferred to or borrowed by another agency or department. This practice is disturbing because taxpayers expect the state to be vigilant in its control over public money and its use.

The Bureau of the Budget development is especially ironic because the bureau is the governor's arm in the budget-making process. Its analysts are assigned to every agency, board and commission in the executive branch. The bureau reviews agency budget requests in helping to prepare the governor's budget.

An agency not involved in the fiscal affairs of others, and responsible for the fiscal accountability of other government bodies, should be able to account for the public property assigned to its own care, avoiding such an embarrassing situation.

The public expects better control by government agencies, particularly one so critical to fiscal accountability as the Bureau of the Budget.

Any recommendations made by Auditor General Robert Cronson for correcting the deficiencies have for the most part been adopted by the bureau. We hope the bureau will make a determined effort to locate the missing equipment.

For the future, we urge all state agencies to keep the strictest possible control over public property that is assigned to them.

CARTER TEAM

Young and close to Jimmy

By JAMES CARY
WASHINGTON — They're mostly young. Very young. The people close to the Democratic Party's choice for president, Jimmy Carter.

With one exception, the small inner circle is made up of men in their 30s. And that's an age grouping very apt to be carried over into Carter's White House staff if he is elected.

The one "old man" in the group is Charles Kirbo, 59, a member of a prominent Atlanta law firm, who has been very close to Carter for the last 14 years. He is a key adviser, but very possibly will turn down a Washington position if one is offered.

Far more likely to spring into national prominence in a pivotal White House post under Carter is Hamilton Jordan, 31, Carter's able campaign manager.

Jordan (pronounced Jordan) is credited with being the man behind the successful concept of having Carter run in every presidential primary.

A former student of public administration at the University of Georgia, he signed in 1968 as Carter's youth coordinator, but his natural organizational skills soon made him the logical person to manage Carter's successful 1970 bid to become governor of Georgia.

After the election he became the governor's executive secretary, prior to handling the former governor's drive to win the Democratic nomination this year.

Now, it has been suggested, he might well be in line to become White House chief of staff or become a top administrative assistant.

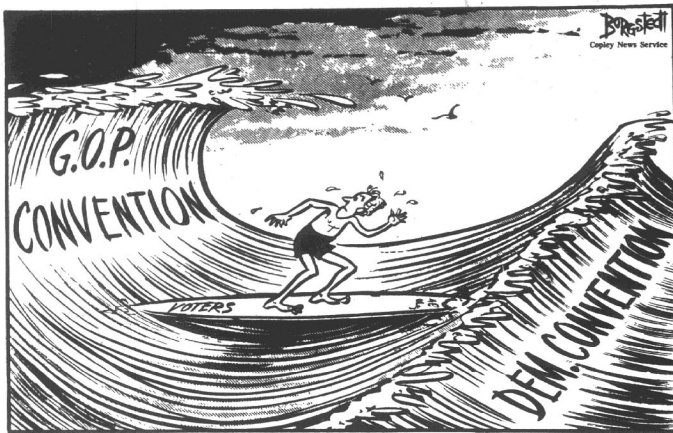

Equally prominent in the Carter inner grouping is Jody Powell, 32, another Georgian who has been Carter's press secretary and spokesman since Carter's days as Georgia governor.

He is credited with knowing Carter's mind and positions as well as any man close to the nominee — an attribute that would be highly desirable in a White House press secretary, or a presidential counselor who has to present official views to the press or members of Congress.

Other young Carter associates who might make the transition to Washington include Stuart Eizenstat, 33, an Atlanta lawyer who has been in charge of the brain trust Carter uses as advisers in taking positions on campaign issues; and Jack H. Watson, 37, an Arkansas lawyer who works in Kirbo's law firm.

So young, but considered a possible choice as national security adviser — the same White House post Secretary of State Henry Kissinger occupied for many months — is Columbia University foreign policy expert Zbigniew Brzezinski, 48. He has helped Carter with his foreign policy advisers.

Miss Lillian — Carter's secret campaign weapon

By JOHN PINKERMAN
It will be the Republicans' turn on mid-August to fill the radio waves, newspapers and boob tube with political convention nonsense. On the face of it, the bitter contest between President Ford and Ronald Reagan should make for more hard news and more excitement than the Democrats were able to manufacture in New York.

There are two reasons for the recent "Jimmy Carter convention" that the Republicans will find difficult to match, and both could be significant on the campaign this fall, even though they are vastly different as possible election tools.

First, there is "Miss Lillian," Carter's 77-year-old mother, and do not under-estimate this remarkable lady as a campaign asset between now and November.

Second, there is Carter's somewhat revolutionary suggestion regarding the manner in which America, the Democrats at least, should go about selecting a vice presidential candidate.

The elder Mrs. Carter, a widow, is a political "resource" not available to either Mr. Ford or Reagan. The Carter plan for revision in the manner of selecting a presidential running mate is of vital concern to U.S. voters.

She gives the terrible reality that America's presidents in today's volatile and violent world are greater assassinated targets than ever before.

The manner of "Miss Lillian" is a joy to behold.

Almost anyone seeing and listening to her down-to-earth comments on her son and on the political scene generally cannot avoid being captivated — and influenced — by her subtle campaigning for the 51-year-old naval officer-peanut farmer-governor-presidential candidate the GOP will contend with between now and Nov. 2.

Chatting with Walter Cronkite, master interviewer of the news profession, Mrs. Carter "reached" young and old alike as she spoke with fervor about her son. She discussed Carter's boyhood with a sincerity — and a political skill — that made him the typical American boy. She told of her own philosophy of "plugging the holes" of the Corps career in India, starting at the age of 67.

She was led gently through extremely effective campaign adjectives by Cronkite.

She is a believable politician, even though she might not like to be known as a politician. If she takes to the campaign trail, the Republicans will have a tough time competing with her, particularly considering the absence of any comparable

There will be lots of issues, lots of rhetoric and lots of promises — sincere and otherwise — tossed around by both Carter and the Republican candidate. However, if Carter pursues his idea on selecting a vice presidential candidate, he may have an issue that will appeal to thoughtful voters.

It should not be a last-minute ticket-balancing act, particularly in these times of great risk to presidential life.

He proposes that a 30-day pause be taken after the president has been nominated. This would give the No. 1 man time to weigh a choice carefully. Then, a mini-convention would be held, or state conventions that would make their choices known to each party's national committee.

In Carter's case this year, he had the 30 days for selection of his running mate inasmuch as he had the nomination tied up weeks before the national convention. This situation seldom prevails, however, and some variation of the Carter suggestion for change has merit.

The Republican solve in Kansas City will may be more exciting than the Democratic love-in (except for the surly Gov. Jerry Brown of California) in New York.

Despite this fact, whether it is Mr. Ford or Reagan who triumphs, the GOP had best search for a potent vote-getter like "Miss Lillian" plus a serious and appealing issue like Carter's vice presidential selection suggestion.

Downtown district has much to offer; problems can be solved

To the Editor:

As I see it, Downtown Granite City has much to offer Quad Cityans, but fewer are able to relate to its value. I believe a review of the downtown area is necessary in an attempt to make people aware, again, of its value.

Downtown is a central location for consumers in the Granite City, Madison and Venice area.

It offers a variety of retail stores offering a variety of merchandise.

There are two full service banks and two savings and loan firms available. Also, there are three schools, two motels, a cafeteria, car dealers, realtors, law firms, a good library, a fine school of music and of course, city hall.

All of this in a short walking distance after one parks his or her car. These facts alone should help draw new business into the area but they have not.

The question, in my opinion, is: "If all these are good points, then why is there such a flight of business away from Downtown?" As I see it, there are three problems: (1) transportation, (2) physical appearance and (3) convenience.

Transportation appears to be a problem because our streets and traffic control devices apparently cannot handle the volume properly. This could be helped by making Edison Avenue one-way northbound from 19th Street.

Also, the signal at Edison and Niedringhaus Avenues should allow more "green light time" for traffic flowing on all streets involved.

Of course, many are dismayed with the parking situation. Although parking meters are a good source of income for city government, it is an inconvenience to a shopper who does not want to be pressured into remembering to "plug the meter" or be slapped with a fine.

Free parking appears to go hand-in-hand with a successful shopping area. When looking at potential locations for parking, few, if any, can be found.

Possibilities would be either sites of vacant buildings or an investment by merchants and the city in a small parking garage complex. There is more than adequate bus service to Downtown, if one is so inclined.

The physical appearance of Downtown is not too impressive to the potential consumer or businessman. This problem appears to be mostly due to the seamy of vacant buildings and the disappearance of others.

There are merchants who have restored or remodeled their shops, and others might do well to consider the same action if they have a desire to stay and assist in Downtown's progress.

A businessman should not need to be told that an investment is necessary before a dividend can be paid.

Last, but probably most important, is the problem of convenience. With the building of large shopping plazas on Nameson Road, and with most of the population moving in a northeast direction, Downtown has found itself in a "squeeze."

Businesses move to the new, modern, although more expensive plazas because they are the center of attention in the streamlining society we are experiencing. This ties the pieces together.

The new plazas lure consumers through easy accessibility and fresh appearance, while being the most convenient location for the largest number of consumers. Thus, it seems Downtown must invest heavily to insure a secure future for itself or it may slowly and painfully decay. It must become competitive by using some of the same tools its competitors use.

With proper action from the city government and the Downtown merchants, these problems may be slowly alleviated as investments are made.

Dreams and plans can quickly fade away. Action is what is necessary to help Downtown overcome its apparent problems and draw from its long-standing resources.

Spoon River—a valley of rich memories

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD Mon., Aug. 16, 1976 Page 19

GALESBURG — From covered bridges to pre-historic Indians, the Spoon River Valley in western Illinois flows through some of the most scenic and historic areas of the state.

Magnolia and forsythia have already bloomed, and the trees are dressed for summer. The backroads may twist and turn, and it's easy to get lost, but what better way to get the feeling of the area?

Galesburg is as good a place as any to start the journey. Take U.S. 150 (Grand Avenue) southeast to Knoxville where the old Knox County Courthouse has been restored, along with a pioneer log cabin. There is a small museum on the second floor. Check locally for hours.

Continue east to the junction with Illinois 97, then south for several hundred feet. Here a sign points you eastward down a country road eight miles to the Old Wolf Covered Bridge.

Spanning the Spoon River, the bridge is still in use, although in a state of disrepair. It is one of only a dozen covered bridges left in the state. Either retrace the road or continue south to Illinois 8, then west, to connect with Illinois 97 again.

Head south on 97, then west on Illinois 118 to London Mills. North several blocks on the Spoon River is a park with a display of old millstones and parts. On the corner is the Statue of Liberty, a miniature version of that which was donated by the Boy Scouts of America, which has a large camera.

Spanning the river is an old iron bridge, one of many that cross the Spoon River. They are fast disappearing from the landscape, but efforts are being made to preserve some of them. They may soon rank up with covered bridges as a symbol of bygone days.

London Mills is one of the starting points to the Spoon River Valley Scenic Drive, a marked series of roads that lead past many of the more scenic and historic points of the area.

The route is designated by red and white oval signs. Further information and a map of the area is available from the Spoon River Scenic Drive Associates, Box 59, Ellisville, Ill. 61631.

The route twists and turns, following backroads to Lewistown, 65 miles south and east. A myriad of small towns can be found along the way, each with its special charm. A sampling of these quaint spots includes:

Ellisville — See the smallest library in the state, and the post office decorated in tin, a memento to the lost art of the tinsmith.

Babylon Bend — Cross one of those old iron bridges to get to here, once the site of a famous mill in the area.

Checkrow — This town got its name from all the checker players in town on "Checker Row."

Bernadott — Once the old mill town was surrounded by seven hills, but the U.S. government took over the town in 1942 to make Camp Ellis to train troops for the war.

Lewistown — The boyhood home of Edgar Lee Masters, whose "Spoon River Anthology" made this area famous.

COMMISSION MEETING
The board of directors of the Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission will hold its regular monthly meeting at Fischer's Restaurant, 200 West Main, Belleville, Wednesday at 5 p.m. Board of directors' meetings are public.

ANCIENT BRIDGE. The Old Wolf Covered Bridge southeast of Galesburg is a throwback to a simpler time when horses and buggies passed through its wooden portals.

Job recruitment on campus shows rise in past year

Job recruitment on college and university campuses across the country during the 1975-76 academic year increased over that of the previous year, according to the College Placement Council.

"The year had a slow start, but a fast finish," David Van Horn, director of University Placement Services at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, said. As recently as March, Van Horn said, recruiting activity at all degree levels was substantially behind last year.

But then, activity picked up. By the end of the year most of the job categories showed an increase over that of the previous year, he said.

The number of offers reported for bachelor's candidates was 11 per cent greater than in 1975. Volume at the master's level was up eight per cent, and at the doctoral level it was 14 per cent above last year.

Even with this closing surge, however, the number of offers reported at the bachelor's level remained 15 per cent behind 1973-74, considered one of the better recruiting seasons since the boom years of the '60s.

For some women graduates, this year's outcome was even better than for their male counterparts. At the bachelor's level, the number of job offers to women rose 59 per cent compared to a year ago. For men the volume increased only four per cent.

However, in the total number of bachelor graduates' job offers reported, women accounted for only 19 per cent. Even though, according to Van Horn, their share was better than the last two years which was approximately 13 per cent.

The emphasis on hiring women with technical backgrounds was reflected in their dollar earning averages. At the bachelor's level women started at higher salaries than men in all engineering positions except petroleum and metallurgical engineering.

But then, activity picked up. By the end of the year most of the job categories showed an increase over that of the previous year, he said.

The number of offers reported for bachelor's candidates was 11 per cent greater than in 1975. Volume at the master's level was up eight per cent, and at the doctoral level it was 14 per cent above last year.

Even with this closing surge, however, the number of offers reported at the bachelor's level remained 15 per cent behind 1973-74, considered one of the better recruiting seasons since the boom years of the '60s.

For some women graduates, this year's outcome was even better than for their male counterparts. At the bachelor's level, the number of job offers to women rose 59 per cent compared to a year ago. For men the volume increased only four per cent.

By type of employer, business firms made 28 per cent more offers to bachelor's candidates than a year ago while manufacturing and industrial employers extended 13 per cent more. On the other hand, volume for the federal government declined 47 per cent.

The reason for the sharp decline in governmental offers was partly because a large waiting list of candidates made campus recruiting necessary for many agencies and partly because of fewer needs.

Graduates with master's of business administration (MBA) degrees continued to dominate the master's degree level, accounting for 57 per cent of the master's volume, Van Horn said.

At the master's degree level, women also fared better than men in percentage of volume increase, gaining 29 per cent in job offers compared with five per cent for men.

At the doctoral level, the volume leaders were chemistry and chemical engineering. Chemical engineering commanded the highest dollar average. Next in volume was electrical engineering.

These business people can help you manage the one thing most businesses don't manage:

Energy!

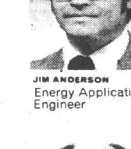

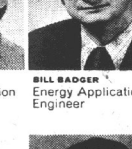

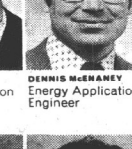

Like all utility companies, Illinois Power Company has no control over the demand for energy. Rather, the peaks and valleys of energy demand are established by the working and living habits of our customers.

So, like all utilities, we have to keep investing in larger plants and distribution systems to meet the growing peak demand, which occurs only at certain hours and certain days. Much of the time our system is used well below its peak capacity. And, as any businessman knows, a capital investment in equipment that is not fully utilized is very costly.

A better, more efficient use of the energy capacity that serves you will be in everyone's interest. And that's what load management is all about. It simply means applying basic management principles to a neglected area of business: the use of energy. Load management is the way our country can continue to have the energy needed to create jobs and capital and a high standard of living—without austerity or restrictions on energy use.

We've made extensive studies of the science of load management. We'd like to share this knowledge with our industrial customers. Ask your IP Area Manager to discuss this important matter with your company officials.
